

Do Chinese people eat people?

Some people even have this misunderstanding of China, hahaha, it's so funny.

However, it is said that there are quite a lot of such people. Of course, most of them are old people who have never seen the world.

In the history of China, except for the primitive society, about 1800 years ago, 1200 years ago, 400 years ago, there were three rumors of eating people. At that time, there were wars in the whole country. There were a few military troops who had such a situation. They were very barbaric. It was eventually extinct.

Those who come to China for tourism and work can come to know that Chinese people not only do not eat people, but also have thousands of years of cooking history, and there will be delicious food waiting for you to eat.
